State Groups Asked To Speed NRA Codes

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10— The state of California issued an announcement to-day that its own recovery administration paterned after the national one was completed.

The statement read:

"Rules covering the codes adopted under the California Recovery Act for intrastate business will be available tomorrow as the result of a conference held yesterday between the Honorable James Rolph, Jr., governor; T. A. Rearuon, director of the department of industrial relations; E. M. Daugherty, Commissioner of corporations, and W. R. Augistine, representing Attorney General U. S. Webb of the state of California.

"The meeting was called by Governor Rolph as the result of preliminary conferences held during the past few days in San Francisco by state officials with George Creel, the director of the National Recovery Administration of this state and other western states.

MAKING OF CODES URGED

"In order to facilitate the assistance to be rendered to employers and employes, merchants and manufacturers those who have not filed codes are requested to mail their codes to the Division of Corporations at Sacramento, San Francisco or Los Angeles promptly. Within a few days other agencies will be established where codes may be filed and where information may be obtained by those seeking to formulate codes.

"The first rules promulgated will be in skeleton form. From time to time suplemental rules will be issued as soon as formulated nad approved. A special effort will be made to have the rules published in local newspapers in each section of the state. Governor Rolph urges speedy and expeditious action. He recommends that every effort be made to hasten the work for the benefit of employes and employers and again reiterates his pledge of co-peration with President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in carrying out the principles of the National Industrial Recovery program."

The meeting described was held in the governor's office in Sacramento.

COMMERCIAL ST. AGAIN MEANS WHAT IT SAYS

In the days of long ago Commercial street was the business section of Nevada City ,until business houses began to move up on Broad street which is wider and where modern building could be built.

Slowly there has grown a demand for more business houses until the street that was partially vacated a few years ago is now a busy district again. Within the last year there has opend the Coffee Cup Cafe, Electric Laundry, Nevada City Babinet Shop, D. C. Billick, assayer; and of recent date the Dixie Cafe, Vogue Press Shoppe, and Sign Painters Shop. Now Frank Davis is counverting the old Transcript building into a modern apartment house.

The opening of new mines and reopening of old ones, has put new life into the whole city and is revealed in the marked improvement as Commercial street.

EDITOR'S WIFE AND SONS JOIN HIM IN NEW HOME

Mrs. Harley M. Leete, will join her husband, editor of the Nevada City Nugget, with their two younger sons, Harley and Gurdon, next week. Their home in Lodi has recently been leased and the family will make their home at 215 Prospect Hill, formerly occupied by Mrs. Kate Dawe. This property has been purchased from Mrs. Jennie A. Schroeder.

Harley Leete, the younger son will enter the Junior class of the Nevada City high school when school opens, and Gurdon will return to Stanford University for the fall term as a member of the junior class.

DELHI MINE TRAMWAY UNDERGOES REPAIRS

The tramway is used in moving ore down the mountain and has been out of use since the property was flooded by a heavy inflow of water at the bottom of the shaft.

TWO SHIFTS WORKING AT ENTERPRISE MINE

M. McFadden is in charge of the Enterprise mine, in the Quaker Hill district, east of Nevada City, while Mr. Fabian is in Los Angeles.

There are two shifts of mine men employed at present and plans are to put on three shifts in a short time.

Mrs. Walter Mobley and daughter, Miss Elane are spending a few weeks vacation in the bay region.

WORK SPEEDS UP AT CANADA HILL

Work at the Canada Hill Mnie will b accelerated by the completion of this week of the pneumatic installation. A new drill steel sharpener has been installed, air line put in the shaft, and new drilling machines receive. A modern compressor was installed several weeks ago. On account of the shortage of equipment, it has been necessary up to this time to do all drilling with hand steel. Nevertheless, rock is being broken on three levels, and a considerable amount of ore is being saved. Now that machine drills can be used, several more working places willl be started in line with West Mines Corporation's plans to do extensive development work in addition to stopping the ore not available. It is expected that the leasing system will be used to carry on a good deal of this work. Three sets of lessees are working at present.

At the Hussey Mine, steady progress is being made and excellent ore showings are turned up at each round. The Hussey is equipped with ore bins having about 150 tons capacity, and th ore saved from the development work is being stored at the mine for the present.

The ore from the Canada Hill and Hussey mines will be handled at the Queen Lil Mill. A new flotation unit and additional equipmem have just been installed, and the mill is now equipped to get the highest possible extraction from the ores that will be treated. The mill is expected to handle some custom ore in addition to the ore from the mines controlled by the West Mines Corporation and the first shipment of custom ore was started through the mill on Thursday, this week.

"DIARY OF FORTY NINER," EXCERPTS

This is the fifth consecutive installment of excerpts from the "Diary of a Forty Niner," one of the first comers to this region. He was an eye witness of the founding of Nevada City in the great days of 1849.

June 2, 1851—When I was at San Francisco, where it was foggy, windy and disagreeable, my thoughts turned to the mountains and I longed to get back to Rock Creek again. Pard has his theory about it and says the main charm is that we go back to nature, where we belong; throw off our artificial civilization and turn Pagans, and that the closer we get to Mother Earth, the more we are in accord with what the Great Cause intended for us.

June 16, 1851—I had a dickens of a time finding a scythe and a rake and had to ride down to a valley below Rough and Ready before I could get them. The owner would not sell, but agreed to loan them for a week, provided I pay ten dollars for their use and dposit thirty dollars for their safe return. It took Pard and me three days to mow and cut the dozen acres and we stacked about three tons, counting time and everything Pard says our hay cost us about six hundred dollars.

October 27, 1851—Selby Flat is getting to be quite a place. There are at least a couple of dozen women living there. The wives of some of the wildest boys on the creek have come out to join their husbands, and it has sobered them down.

November 4, 1851—The storekeepers in town are stocking up for the winter. I counted nine twelve mule teams unloading yesterday on Main street. These teams are a sight from six to eight span of big mules hauling three wagons. They load eight to ten tons, charge forty dollars a ton, and mak the round trip from Sacramento to Nevada and return in about a week. The mules are mostly from Kentucky and I am told that some of the outfits are valued at ten thousand dollars.

December 16, 1851—Nevada is putting on airs lately. The citizens are figuring on building a brick court house and the town has a weekly paper. It is not much of a paper, but we subscribed for a copy at twenty dollars a year to help it along. There are about thirty families settled down there and the moral people have got up a petition requesting the store kepers to close on Sundays. That is asking too much however, as everybody comes to town on that day to do the week's trading.

February 10, 1851—I spent the day over in Nevada. It is getting to be quite a big town. What a contrast it is to our poky slow New England villiages. There are half a dozen stores which carry all kinds of provisions and hardware, butcher shops, five hotels, and gin mills too numerous to mention. Saturday night and Sunday—I forgot, one church—are the lively days. Then there are two or three thousand miners in town, the majority drinking, gambling, and carousing. Woolen shirts and duck overalls are the fashion, and if you see anybody dressed up its a sure thing he is either a gambler or a lawyer. Every saloon has some sort of game running. "Monte," "Red and Black," "Chuck-a-luck," "Twenty-one," "Rondo," and "Fortune Wheels" ar the banking games, and they play poker and "Brag" for big stakes. The fool miners work hard all the week and then lose their dust at these games.

CAMPTONVILLE TEACHER RESIGNS, VACANCY FILLED

CAMPTONVILLE, Aug. 10.—Miss Helen L. Jackson, teacher in the primary department of the Camptonville Union School District, tendered her resignation Monday, which was accpeted by the Board of Trustees at a meeting held Tuesday night. Mrs. Church of North Bloomfield, was elected to take her place, and the change will take place within a few days as soon as the new teacher can move to town and get located. Miss Jackson leaves here to accept a position in the public schools at Soquel.

Mrs. Lee Leiter is gradually recovering from an illnss that has confined her to her bed for a time. Her sister, Mrs. R. S. Frey of Oakland came up Wednesday to visit Mrs. Leiter.

ROUND OF 30 SECONDS ENLIVENS BROAD ST.

Two men hotly mixed it on Broad Street last evening for about 30 seconds in front of Dickerman's drug store. Myers Mobley intervened and invited one or both to take him on if they wished to continue the debate. Both declined simultaneously and suddenly. One, copiously flowing from his proboscis, bathed his bruised member at a handy tap. The other faded rapidly away. No arrests were made.

BULLION MINE NOW COMPLETELY UNWATERED

The unwaternig of the Bullion Mine east of Grass Valley, was completed last week. A crew of men are busily engaged in laying a concrete foundation for the head frame. Within a short time construction of the building and installation of mine machinery will commence.

Robret Hathaway, mill wright of Grass Valley and superintendent of construction expects to have the surface workings completed in 60 days.

A 90 foot head frame is under construction on the west side of the highway. There will also be buildings erected adjoining it to house compressors, 100 horse power double drum hoist, blacksmith shop and other machinery.

Plans are to construct an over head tramway 65 feet above the highway. It will carry ore to the processing equipment on the other side. The carrage structure over the highway will be completely enclosed to assure safety from falling debris in transit.

C. A. Brockinton of Grass Valley is superintendent of the property.

DEVELOPMENTS IN SCOTT FLAT PROMISING

In the north eastern portion of the Scotts Flat mining district east of Nevada City, there is considerable mining activity.

Frank Peri has been developing his property and is now driving a 60 foot tunnel in on bedrock that is just commending to pick up the gravel. This is carrying good gold values. One gold pan of gravel showed several nuggets, one valued at 40 cents and a number of colors. He has two men employed.

At the White Cloud property George Gardner and Roy Howell have run a 200 bedrock tunnel that is beginning to show indications of gravel.

They have taken in 1000 foot of T-rails and about 2000 feet of lumber to continue operations.

The Diamond Gravel Mine in the same section is being worked by Roy Howell and E. Baker. They have run a 165 foot tunnel that is now showing a little stringer of gravel which is expected to widen as work continues.

SALES OF SHARK MEAT, LABELED BASS HALTED

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 10.—(UP)—The state board of health is out after the "sharks" in more ways than one.

Investigations by the state bureau of food and drug inspection have revealed that certain dealers have been selling shark labeled as bass.

The dealers have been warned, the board reported, and any further cases of mislabeling of fish in this manner will be prosecuted.

CITY COUNCIL TALKS OVER FIRE ORDINANCE

The city council met last night and discussed various amendments to the building ordinance. It is proposed to insert provisions regarding the use of matreials in both business and residence districts which will tend to decrease present fire hazards.

During a discussion of licenses to sell beer, Mayor Bennetts announced that it was the policy of the board to refuse all applications to sell beer in a private residences.

Speedy Action Urged On State Water Plan

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 10— Immediate action to pave the way for construction of the $170,000,000 statewide water conservation project is urged by a group of Sacramento and San Joaquan valley and bay section citizens, who gathered here yesterday to organize an advisory commitee to the California Water Authority.

Formation of a large citizens advisory group is favored in a resolution adopted at the meeting held with State Engineer Edward Hyatt, P. D. Howell, Tulare, was elected chairman of a committee to muster a permanent membership designed to work in co-operation with and support of the water authority.

A. E. Goddard, Sacramento heads a group designated to meet with the water authority at its next meeting and proffer the assistance of the citizen group. The principal of this representative group will be to press before authorities at Washington the the application for federal financing of the project through purchase of revenue bonds by the national government.

The advisability of sending a representative to Washington in the near future was discussed, without official action being taken. State Engineer Hyatt said the next step will be to forward the preliminary application to Justus Wardell, region administrator of NRA in San Francisco, after which the state must obtain contracts for the sale of power and water sufficiant to guarantee amortization of the project.

Senator Bradford S. Critenden, one of those who arranged the meetnig, acted as chairman. Goddard and William Boucher, manager of the Sacramento office of the California State Chamber of Commerce, represented this area.

LAVA CAP MILL BEING ERECTED

Forty men are now employed at the Lava Cap mine. They are setting up the 200 ton mill and clearing the ground for other buildings, and carrying the new shaft and the old Bannar shaft to lower levels. A large part of the machinery, ordered several weeks ago is now on the ground, and work of placing it and erecting buildings is going forward rapidly. Otto Schiffner is the superintendent in charge.

HEAVY FLOW OF WATER HALTS WORK IN EMPRESS

At the Empress Mine, in the Newtown district, work was halted ten days ago when an unusual heavy flow of water was released while blasting ore at the bottom of the 1000 foot shaft.

The water which could not be carried away by the pumps ordinarily adequate began to rise in the shaft till it reached the 400 foot level, where the station pump at that level held it in check.

According to the opinion of Engineer Fred M. Miller who is familiar with rock formation in this district, the strike of water is generally a good sign. It indicates a favorable formation or the intersection of veins or two coming together. It is generally true that in a case like this, deposits of gold are found at the intersection or contact.

The Murchie Mine east of Nevada City has run into two or three of these watercourses, as they are called, and has successfully cemented the heavy flow of water off so to continue operations.

The Empress Mine has been operating for the past four years under Ed. C. Jacobs, superintendent. It was recently announced in Reno by the Lucky Tigar Company that they had taken over the controlling interests.

The mine operates a ten stamp crusher, ball mill and floation plant.

There are about 35 men employed working three shifts a day.

PHOENIX MINE REPORTS PROGRESS IN REOPENING

At the Phoenix mine, below Grass Valley, good progress is reported in sinking the proposed 300 feet in their vertical shaft.

There are two parallel veins close together on the property, with most of the work being done on the upper vein.

Robert Hawxhurst is superintendent while Mr. Davey of Grass Valley is foreman at the mine.

San Francisco capital is opening the property.

There are fifteen men employed in mine operations.

C. L. Walther of Aquippa, Penn., is here visiting with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hoge. Mr. Walther is associated with Mr. Hoge in mining interests in the Nevada City district.

NEV. CO. SCHOOLS TO GET $89,502

By MELVIN LORD

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 10.—(UP)—State school funds totaling $38,524,119 will be apportioned to counties for the 1933-34 school year, according to an estimate prepared by the state department of education.

Of this amount $20,369,581 will go to elementary schools; $16,731,138 to high schcools, and $1,423,400 to junior colleges.

At the same time it was estimated that Nevada county elementary schools will receive $49,238 and high schools, $40,264 under terms of the apportionment.

This will be the first allocation of funds made by the state under terms of constitutional amendment No. 30—the so-called Riley-Stewart tax plan—funds for which are being raised by the 2½ per cent sales tax which was effective August 1.

Under terms of enabling legislation, apportionments will be made in 10 monthly payments beginning next September when the first amount will be credited to county school funds. "This spreading of the state apportionments over the year is necessary in view of the fact that the state taxes, particularly the sales tax, will be collected throughout the year rather than in one or two payments," department officials said.

With the state assuming all general school costs, it was pointed out that "there will be no county school taxes levied this year either for elementary schools or for high schols."

The drastic changes in the financing of schools will make it necessary for the revision of all school budget prepared under the old laws, and school authorities were warned "to take all necessary steps to insure submission of legally correct scchool district budgets and county school tax estimates."

SPRING HILL MINE OPENS OLD DAY SHAFT

At the Spring Hill mine a raise has just been completed from the 500 foot level to the old Day shaft which was 300 feet deep.

The Day shaft has been under water since the later 60's and the old time timbering and ladder way are in perfect condition and will be used by the present company. If metal had been used in the shaft it would have crumbled at the touch, but timber is preserved as sound as the day it was put in.

This opening of the Day shaft will give the Spring Hill mine a second outlet from the 500 foot level to the surface.

GOLDEN GATE MINE IS BEING UNWATERED

The Golden Gate mine in the Eureka district which adjoins the Idaho Maryland and Spring Hill properties, is being unwatered by a small crew of men. Harry James is in charge of operations.

THE GOLD PANNER

Back to the hills for strength and the means to exist. The the trek of the gold panner from the cities to the river banks, in the Sierras in some respects is like that of the Argonauts. True, the love of adventure drew thousands to the Sierra gold diggings, but necessity was also an urge to thousands more.

Question: Are we treating these modern day Argonauts, these independent, upstanding citizens of the good old U. S. A. as well as we might?

Are we putting out the helping hand as we should to thes men that had rather dig out 40 cents (that's the average) for themselves, then accept a dollar a day, county or state charity?

Are we taking off our hats to these women that don overalls and help their men shovel and dig for gold?

Are we seeing to it that these children, who come with their parents and do their little bit toward washing out the slim pay in the gravel, are getting a square deal with other children?

How about fish and game? The Argonauts of old, took time off to stock their cabins with deer, rabbits, quail, and with fish from the streams. No restrictions then and, in all probability, little more fish and game than now.

We know that these modern Argonauts are arrested and fined, whenever they are caught fishing or hunting out of season, or violating any of the many laws that preserve our fish and game for the wealthy and the leisurely. Is this right, when the average digging amounts to 40 cents per digger?

Cannot something be done to except these gritty, independent, upstanding men and women who prefer digging to charity, from the onerous fish and game laws?

Of course, they have received a considerable quantity of Red Cross flour and, in extreme cases last winter the very destitute were cared for by charity. But on the whole these gold panners that line the banks of streams, that work long hours, that do the best they can to keep the wolf away and retain their self-respect, have not had that cordial hand of helpfulness that our traditions here in the mountain counties would entitle them too.

They have been looked upon as a liability, whereas, as a matter of fact they are an asset. In the aggregate they have dug out half million dollars worth of gold in a year. Those that stick by it, are becoming better miners as they gain experience. On the whole they are good Americans and patriotic. They meet this depression standing up and fighting.

In the matter of game and fish laws they could be helped. In the matter of getting something more than a toe hold in the mining industry, there should be ways of helping them to a free chance so far as taking up claims is concerned.

For these people, mainly from cities, are in a very real sense pioneers. The mountains are strange to many of them as the Congo would be to a lot of North Americans. Let us give them a hand individually and collectively whenever we can.

KIDNAPERS MUST QUIT

Kidnaping, extortion and rackets in general must end!

Aroused by the wave of kidnaping, the entire nation must co-ordinate efforts to exterminate organized crime to prevent destruction of arganized society itself, in the view of California editors.

"It may be that the present kidnapers are the last efforts of men that find the game is up," said the Bakersfield Californian. "Since the country is speaking so effectively on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, the criminals that fattened on evasions of the law find no market for their goods. Whatever be the cause, the breakdown of the machinery of the law; the inflated arrogance bred during the prohibition period; or congenital criminality, the racketeer and the kidnaper have become a problem to the nation."

"The wave of kidnaping which has grown so rapidly during the last few years emphasizes the continued success of organized crime," comments the Merced Sun-Star, "but criminologists do not look at this phase as more than a symptom of a bad social condition. Kidnaping is considered only a diversion from the chief business of organized criminals, racketeering. When, as in a depression, the receipts from the rackets dwindle kidnaping offers a lucrative sideline for the energies of the gangs set up to prey on the business of the cities."

But, kidnaping is different, according to the Vallejo Times-Herald, adding: "It cannot be an organized racket unless the society in which it thrives has demonstrated its utter inability to protect the lives and persons of its citizens. Its appearance is the gravest symptom that the machinery of law enforcement can display. Today we have just about reached a point at which we must discuss some extremely revolutionary revision of our whole system of law enforcement."

"This form of crime," remarks the Willows Journal, "is an admittedly hard one to get at effectively. Because of fear for the life of the victims, relatives often refuse to seek police assistance. They cannot be justly condemned, of course, for this attitude although it operates to defeat or hamper authorities seeking the kidnapers. There must be some way for conducting an effective campaign against abductions. It must be found and the drive be pushed to the limit. Gangland cannot be permitted to challenge the federal government, as it has state government, and get away with it."

"It is ridiculous," said the Long Beach Press Telegram, "to assume that an enlightened society cannot find means for wiping out, to a large degree at least, this nefarious racket. However, it will not be done until there is an awakened public which not merely admits the hideousness of the crime, but which will actually provide adequate remedies for its eradication."

"An arganization of national magnitude backed by the co-operation of state peace officers and co-ordinated police methods should get results," in the opinion of the Stockton Record. "The next Congress should give the attorney general whatever remedial legislation he proposes. The crime situation in America cannot be overcome with half-way expedients."

RIFT BETWEEN LEGISLATURE AND ROLPH WIDES

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 10.—(UP)—Feud between Governor Rolph and the legislature will be an issue in the 1934 gubernatorial campaign.

The governor will not take the beating handed out by the legislature lying down. He is expected to shout from the hustings the legislators were uncooperative, needlessly embarrassed the administration, failed to balance the budget, spitefully deprived important state agencies of funds and declined to consider helpful suggestions from the "corner" office. Rolph's long political experience has taught him the best defense against attack is a stronger counter attack.

Legislators have heard of the goveronr's plans. Many are prepared to tell their side of the story. One prominent assemblyman from Mr. Rolph's home town, San Francisco, declared: "If he comes into my district with such charges, he'll have his hands full. He'll find out legislators carry influence in their own bailiwicks."

JORDAN TO RUN AGAIN

Practically all the state's constitutional—that is, elective officers—will run for reelection. Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan will be candidate for his seventh consecutive term. This time, however, he'll go after both democratic and republican nominations. "My affiliations are republicans," he explained, "but some of my inclinations lean towards the democratic side."

Ray Riley, veteran state controller seeks only return to the office he knows so well. Despite his prominence in connection with the Riley-Stewart tax revision program, he has refused to consider being a candidate for governor.

State Treasurer Charles Johnson, another veteran, will be a candidate for governor on the republican ticket. Already he is grooming himself by periodic and critical statements of state government as now conducted.

MAYOR STATE POST

Fred Stewart, the board of equalization's most prominent member, has been mentioned as a republican candidate for lieutenant governor. he he stoutly maintains his one ambition is to be reelected member of the board. Perhaps he's wise. Recent developments have made the board one of the major state agencies.

Attorney General U. S. Webb has not made and commitment. But he will run again—and undoubtedly be reelected—according to best advices.

Lieutenant Governor Frank Merriam, of course, is vigorously campaigning for governor. But if expected support fails to materilize for reelection to his present post. He is slated to try again for the lesser post.

OFFICIAL FAMILY QUIET

Peace reigns (for the time being) in the official family . . . Finance director Vandegrift made his peace with Social Welfare director, Rheba Crawford Splivalo by fighting for additional funds for her department . . James Burke, Visalia, announced finally he would not, under any consideration, accept the directorship of natural resources. . .thus Dan Bloods job is secure . . Dr. J. M. Toner , director of institutions, is not in imminent danger of being removed . .

Federal Wheat Administrator. Dr. Dalton was loaned to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration by Harvard University, where he is Assistant Professor of Economics.

Member of a pioneer California family, Dr. Dalton was raised on a fruit ranch in the Consumne Valley. The Dalton family is identified with the gold rush days of California.

In seeking men to carry out its program of agricultural and industrial recovery, the Administration has laid stress, first and last, on the training and experience. Only those whose ability, training, and experiences could be used to advantage in the tremendously important program undertaken by the Administration, have been selected.

PERSONAL

"I will not be responsible for any member of my family who takes stomach tonics, indigestion remedies, soda, calomel, salts, laxative pills, etc. to try to get rid of indigestion, constipation, bloating, sour stomach, bad breath or headaches. I have told them all to use Sargon Soft Mass Pills, the new liver medicine which makes the liver get busy and furnish enough bile to digest their food and stop constipation. Everybody ought to take Sargon Soft Mass Pills two or three times a month if they want to feel good. All good druggists have them."

HIGHWAY HEAD PLANS 3 NEW STATE DISTRICTS

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

SACRAMENTO,, Aug. 10.—(UP)—Addition of approximately 6,800 miles to the state's highway system has brought forth from the department of public works a proposal to revise the boundaries of most the existing 10 highway districts and add an 11th district in southern California.

The legislature passed and the governor signed the Breed bill by which the state takes over 6,800 miles of county roads in all parts of California. This increases state highway mileage—including primary and secondary roads—from around 7,400 to 13,892.38 miles.

Earl Lee Kelly, director of the department, has under favorable consideration the new re-districting plan which will save the state $40,000 and entail establishment of new district headquarters at Marysville, San Diego and Stockton. Sacramento would lose its district headquarters.

Kelly said average mileage in the state highway districts of other states is between 800 and 1,000 miles. Revision of the present California district plan would cut the average mileage for each district from 1,400 miles down to about 1,270 miles. He held the change was a compelling necessity from the standpoint of efficiency and economy.

The director said the only opposition had originated from Sacramento. Other sections he said, were apparently unanimously in favor of the plan. While Kelly is stongly in favor of the proposal, he said he would not make a definite decision for the time being.

BOXING COMMISSION RECEIPTS SHOW GAIN

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 10—(UP)—For the first time in more than a year, boxing and wrestling shows throughout the state showed a gain in receipts during June, the state athletic commission reports.

The total receipts of the commission—5 per cent of the gates—was $7,410.13 as compared with $7,277.51 in June of 1932. A total of 167 shows were held.

Receipts for the first six months of the year, however, amounted to $43,790, as compared to $58,311 during the first half of 1932, principally because of a sharp decrease in the number of shows.

PUBLIC INTEREST IN GOVERNMENT IS STIMULATED

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

With legislative sessions, both state and national, at an end, temporarily, after the most tumultuos gatherings in many years, perhaps the most significant result of the whole political upheaval is to be found in the sudden quickening of popular interest in popular government.

Fundamentally, the fact that the average citizen is beginning to become politically—conscious is of far greater importance than the national recovery program, for the entire program is largely dependent upon public cooperation and public vigilance.

And the fact that California far-California taxpayers generally—have become tax-conscious is of more significance than the relief they achieved

DEMOCRACY CHALLENGED

Most reassuring is the questioning attitude of many thousands of voters who, in times past, knew little or nothing about government—and cared less! One of the questions emanating from this group is the challenging query: "Can popular government survive?" Yet the very seriousness of the question is a hopeful sign. Democracy was probably in far greater danger of going on the rocks when no one thought to question it.

The terrific cost of public indifference to public problems has been emphasized and re-emphasized throughout the depression. Farmers, business men, industrialists and professional men have all come to realize, finally, that they have almost as much at stake in government as they have in their individual enterprises. And out of that realization has come the start of a new and vital interest in things political which may, if it continues, change the whole governmental picture.

Looking backward over the legislative session just concluded at Sacramento, and the previous sessions which went practically unnoticed by the average voter, most serious-minded observers might be inclined to ask—and wonder—whether democracy is all the forefathers thought it to be.

GOVERNMENT AS DESERVED

Yet, without condoning or apoligizing for the faults of both legislators and public officials, it must be admitted that the people have gotten out of government about what they put into it. If they are indifferent, they got indifferent representatives. If they were selfish, they got selfish representatives. And if they were publicly alert, they got alert representatives, willing to fight for their interests.

There is frequent complaint that wealth and corporate interests "own" and control most public officials. Sometimes, unfortunately, the complaint is true, but public indifference has made it true, as this observer sees the picture.

COSTLY CAMPAIGNS

One of the reasons for this condition, for instance, is that spectacular and costly campaigns have been necessary to arouse public interest in elections. No candidate for a public office can afford such campaigns. And corporations can—and often do—afford them! Hence corporation-controlled officials, made so largely because the voters weren't sufficiently interested to vote without synthetic encouragement.

But the reassuring thing is that some of the voters ,at least, have started to think and question. And the best promise of intelligence, in the body politic, as with the individual, is a frank admission of ignorance.

All in all, democracy is looking up, even though the concrete results might not indicate it.

CALIFORNIA VERY, VERY YOUNG, AGE AVERAGE ONLY 32

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 8—(UP)—California is a state of young people, despite the popular notion that those who migrate here are largely older persons.

An analysis of the age groups in the California population prepared by the research department of the California Taxpayers association shows the balance in favor of those on the sunny side of 30.

"The migration into California during the 1920-1930 decade was predominately the younger middle age group, with an average age of about 27 at the time they came into the state," the association reported.

"As a result the average age of the population of the state is less than the normal average which California life expectancy would yield."

The average age of the population in 1930 was actually 32.17 years in 1930, and the estimate for 1940 is 35.77 years.

As the population grows older, there will be a greater number of deaths, and fewer births, a trend already actually started as vital statistics of the state department of health reveal.

By 1935 it is estimated the births and deaths will balance approximately and after that the balance will be in favor of the death side.

As a result, the report pointed out "we can expect little increase in California population from natural regeneration during the next decade. Any material increase will have to come from migration."

Migration accounted for an increase of 1,068,613 in the 1910-20 decade and 1,995,342 in the following 10-year period. A continuation of this ratio would bring an increase in population amounting to approximately 3,000,000 during the current decade, but in view of general population trends throughout the country, it is estimated that California's population will grow by approximately 828,000 persons between 1930 and 1934.

MOTOR TOURIST SHOW BIG INCREASE IN JUNE

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 10.—(UP)—Proof that California is the goal of motorists from all over the United States is seen in the report of border inspection stations checked the entry of 57,786 automobiles carrying 164,141 passengers into the state during June.

The total represented an increase of 17,213 cars over the previous month, the report stated.

Inspection of the cars led to seizure of 1,534 lots of plant material which violated federal and state quarantine laws.

NEVADA CITY on the March to Better Times

To All NRA Members:

I think there is no more patriotic community in California than the People of Nevada City. Since I was honored by being chosen the leader in the NRA I have received assurances of support from everyone with whom I have talked.

The people of this city are anxious to be of service, eager to carry out the NRA program, and hogeful and confident that when it is thorougly understood and in operation employment here will be increased and that we shall in due time experience with the rest of the country an improvement in business and living conditions.

While we have had here in Nevada City, practically a one hundred percent sign-up to the general agreement with President Roosevelt, there still remain many questions to answer in particular lines of industry or merchandising that must wait for their answer until we receive instructions or advice from larger NRA organizations, state and national. When these arrive I shall promptly advise the public through the press. I am confident that when the signal comes, and the march toward beter times begins, Nevada City will be found in step with California and the Nation.

(Signed) P. G. SCADDEN

NRA MEMBER U.S.

WE DO OUR PART

THE NEVADA CITY NUGGET Believes:

That President Roosevelt and his advisors understand better than any other group of men the causes of this depression.

That President Roosevelt in submiting the NRA plan to the American People has submited a remedy that will cure the depression, given a reasonable time for its operation.

That, having chosen President Roosevelt to lead us out of this hard times wilderness, it is now our duty to accept that plan, take that medicine, which he has proposed, and each one of us to do his part in affecting a cure.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPT. ON 5 DAY WORK BASIS

More than 3000 per diem employes in the Department of Public Works are to be placed on a five-day week basis without reduction in wages!

This was the decision made this morning by Earl Lee Kelly, Director of the Department, following receipt of a letter from Governor James Rolph Jr., ordering all departments of state government to cooperate one hundred per cent with the President of the United States by stimulating employment.

Statisticians of the department are engaged in computing the average weekly earnings of per diem workers for the past year. From these figures will be established the average daily earning of per diem workers and pay schedules will be adjusted accordingly. It is the intention of the department, says Kelly, to play its part in the National Recovery Act by shortening workers' hours without correspondingly decreasing their average weekly wage, to end that the spending capacity of these three thousand employes may not be impaired and possibly a few additional men employed.

LUMBER TALKS

A MOUNTAIN CABIN

I am going to build a cabin
On a hillside that I know,
Where the songbirds sing at even
And the sweet wild roses grow,
And the mountain trout are leaping
In a dark pool down below.

I am going to build a cabin
Under towering firs and pine
Just a modist litle cabin,
But I'll love it, 'cause its mine
And my happy playtime memories
Will in time about it twine.

I am going to build a cabin
Full of built-in cosy nooks,
And some shelves of nice pine lumber
That will hold my favorite books,
And place for fishing tackle
And a good safe place for hooks.

Let your imagination ramble.
A. M. C.

Own a Bit of The Mountains

and put a litle cabin on it. It wont cost much more than a tent and it will be a place you will grow to love. There will be a refuge and a shelter, respectively, from the world's care and from the elements.

There you can come to fish, to hunt, read, to get that nutbrown Sierra tan, or just to be lazy with the Friend Wife for a day, a week, or a month.

We will sell you everything you need to build that little cabin: and we'll promise this, we'll sell all materials to you at lower prices this year than you can buy them for next year. Building materials are going up.
